CHICAGO, Ill., May 25 .- Alton was struck last night by a tornado, which bursted from the southwest, sweeping across the river with terrific fury. Some large buildings on the river front were damaged, some of them seriously. Among them were the National mills, the Roller mills, J. 'A. Ryerie's grocery store, Hawley's warehouse, Doury, Weed & Co.'s, the Drummond, Randall tobacco factory, the glass works and others. The most serious damage was to Ryerie's store, the third story being wrecked and half the roof taken off. The wooden awnings, fences and shade trees were blown in all directions. The freight cars on the Chicago and Alton siding were blown off, blocking the main track. The minor losses throughout the city aggregate a large amount, and it is feared the damage in the low lands across the river was serious. Large planks and timbers were carried a long distance. Several pieces of stone coping on the fire wall of the roller mill, weighing four hundred or five hundred

"Whether an Indian is eligible to the said office depends upon whether his status, civil and political, is at the time such that he can give the required bond and take the prescribed oath. While the states, except the president, are now required to take the oath of office prescribed in section 1,75 of the revised status, they are not exempted from taking the oath prescribed by the act of March 5, 1874, relative to the performance of duties in the postal service, but must take this also."

Of the 108 changes made by the postmaster-general in fourth-class postoffices Saturday evening, 88 were ameng Virginia postmasters.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT AT HOME. He Thinks the Administration is Getting Along Very Well.

INDIATAPOLIS, Ind., May 25 .- Vice-President Hendricks has arrived at home.

and alumni of the law school of Yale college, I have been exceedingly busy in Washington and am glad to get back home."
"Have you any opinions about the administration that you care to express?" was asked.
"I think the administration is getting along very well. A good many people do not understand that it is necessary for a new administration, which is almost totally unacquainted with the details of the government, to go quite slowly and cautiously, and this Mr. Cleveland and his cabinet are doing. There is a feeling, however, that the administration has not been decided enough in various has not been decided enough in various ways."

"Do you think that there will be a sweeping and general removal of the republican officeholders throughout the country?"
"I would not put it that strongly," responded Mr. Hendricks, "but I do think that there will be a great many removals made. Yes, so far as I know, the administration, in a general way, is receiving the cordial support of the leading democrats of the country, with the possible few exceptions in the direction I have indicated—that is, that the president has been possibly a little too conservative in certain respects."

Vice-President Hendricks was serenaded, a crowd of about 250 people assembling in front of his residence. In his response to a short address of welcome by E. C. Buskirk, he said:

I have incurred some criticism in the newspapers because I staid in Washington to help my friends into public office. Why should it be so? After asking the people for their votes they now ask me to help them. Shall I not do so? Whether I succeed in helping them or not, I am not to be charged with being an ingrate, for I do what I can. Why is it that for this the newspapers criticise me? A man comes to Washington; he wants a public office, and no man knows him from the president down; and shall no one introduce him? Shall no one receive office but those who are sufficiently known as politicians at Washington; I am glad I did stay and attend to that duty. I will tell you what is the real reason. It is because I am a democrat and believe in those principles that take the common people by the hand and place them on an equality with the most fortunate. A scribbler from Washington, I have had no purpose of increasing any partiality of the people for myself. No; I shall have no future connection with any ticket, but such criticism will not nurt."

VIRGINIA IN COURT.

The Federal Court Gives Effect to the Recent Decision, RICHMOND, Va., May 25.—Judge Bond, of the United States circuit court, to-day rendered a decision concerning the public debt of Virginia, which gives practical effect to the recent decision of the United States supreme court, and virtually wipes out everything done by the Virginia legislature in that direction. He decreed that when the tax payer tenders coupons for his taxes, he has thereby paid his taxes; that he may deposit his taxes; that he may deposit his coupons in court, and the clerk thereof shall give him a receipt, certifying that by order of court his tax is paid; that the collector of taxes is forever enjoined from levying upon the tax payers' property and from returning said property as a delinquent for taxes, and that the collector shall pay the costs of each suit that he forces the tax payer to bring. The costs in each suit are about $40.

The case of Chaffin vs. Taylor, treasurer of Henry county, in which Taylor levied upon Chaffin's property, after the latter had declined to pay his tax in anything other than coupons, has been appealed to the Unietd States supreme court. The suit was brought against Taylor by Chaffin for tresspassing, his counsel claiming that under the recent decision of the United States supreme court it was mandatory upon the state courts to order the jury to assess damages in these cases of tresspass. Judge Welford, of Henry circuit court, refused to Welford, of Henry circuit court, refused to grant a jury and dismissed the case.

the sgricultural department, receives many letters from the west and the southwest, which indicate that the farmers of those sections are

The appearance of the ordinary locusts in California and Texas, in very destructive numbers, adds to the alarm. Professor Riley says the seventeen-year locusts, whose visit he has predicted, are harmless to the growing crops, and do no injury except to the twigs of forest and fruit trees. Wherever young orchards have been planted on land which has been cleared during the last seventeen years. chards have been planted on land which has been cleared during the last seventeen years, the trees are liable to suffer somewhat, but it is probable that the use of kerosene emulsion aprayed upon the trees will protect them. The ordinary locust, which is so destructive to growing crops, has jaws which cut, while the seventeen-year species, more properly called cicada, has only bills through which he sucks his nourishment.

WHITSUNTIDE IN LYNCHBURG. A Homicide Which Grew Out of a Colored Baseball Game.

Lykcheurg, Va., May 25.—To-day—Whitsuntide—was observed as a holiday by the colored people, who celebrated it with military and society parades, baseball playing, etc. During the baseball game, in the afternoon, a young white man, Samuel Meredith, for some offense, slapped a small colored boy, for which he was at once attacked by a number of colored men. As the excitement increased his assailants grew in numbers. He took to flight with fifty or more excited negroes in rursuit, and finally turned at bay in the doorway of a house, when a barber named Louis Adams attacked him with a knife. Meredith shot the barber dead, entered the house and escaped the mob. When the excitement had subsided many of the regroes, who had followed Meredith, admitted that the killing of Adams was done in self-defense, and declared it was justifiable. Baseball Game.

THE CASE MADE OUT.

CLUVERIUS RESTING UNDER A WEIGHT OF PROOF.

The Tern Note Admitted as Evidence by the Judge-The Name of Merton Fastened Upon the Cul-prit_The Prosecution Closes Its Evi-dence-Notes of Intelligence.

RICHMOND, Va., May 25 .- Over an hour was spent this morning in the Cluverius murder trial in arguing the question as to the admissability of the torn note found at the American hotel, addressed to T. J. Cluverius, and alleged to have been written by Lillian Madison. The prosecution argued in favor of admitting the note as circumstantial evidence in the chain along with the testimony of their witnesses. The defense held that there was no occasion for rearguing the question, as no new authorities had been cited. There had not been a line of evidence to show that the prisoner ever wrote a note to and sens it to the hotel, or that he had received one from there. Judge Atkins reserved his decision and the jury was brought into court and the trial proceeded.

P. P. Dillard, commercial traveler, sworn: Knew the prisoner; went to jail March 20th, with Captain Bagley, to see him, out of sympathy. The prisoner told witness that he could account for every moment of time he had spent in Richmond on March 13th, and could clear himself of the charge. Captain Eagley had asked him where he got the scratches on his hand, and he said he had street it grainer a railing at Captain.

L. S. Robbins, police officer who accompanied Captain Epps to King and Queen panied Captain Epps to King and Queen county, was sworn. He explained what occurred at the time of the arrest, and his testimony was in almost every detail corroborative of the evidence given by Captain Epps, and telegraphed in these dispatches Saturday. In conversation with the prisoner, soon after his arrest, the witness told the prisoner that this was a very serious charge, and the witness said he thought too much of Lillian to have done her any harm, and that he thought somebody had been personating him in Richmond. He further said that on Friday night of the alleged murder he had been to night of the alleged murder he had been to the dime museum, and had retired at 11 o'clock. The witness stated that he made an affidavit to the warrant of arrest upon satisfactory evidence to his mind as adduced be-fore the coroner's jury, that the body was that of Lillian Madison, and that the prisoner was directly or indirectly the cause of her death. The witness was subjected to a very severe cross-questioning, but without eliciting any new fact.

John L. Oliver, jailer in King and Queen, was with the Richmond officers when the ar-rest was made, and testified to the part he had taken in the affair. There was nothing of special interest in his testimony outside that of other officers. At the suggestion of Captain Epps he had looked and believed he saw a piece of the chain, about an inch long, hanging from the prisoner's watch chain. This was at the hotel at King and Queen court house, after the party had arrived there from Mrs. Tunstall's after the arrest.

J. R. Vaughn, 6t King and Queen county, sworn: Was at Centreville on March 14, saw the prisoner in the porch at the postoffice. The prisoner was sticking up a notice, and Mr. Bland, who was present, said to him that he was looking badly. The witness said to the prisoner that he must be in love. The prisoner said, no he had prisoner that he must be in love. The prisoner said, no, he had missed the train the evening before, and had not slept the night previous. The prisoner subsequently left, saying he was not feeling real!

J. R. Bland was at Centreville March 14, and testified to the same effect.

John Sweeney, of the Richmond police, saw the prisoner at the stationhouse the evening of his arrival under arrest. He asked him if he saw Miss Madison on March 13, and he snswered no. He asked him if he had ever frolicked, had he ever gone around to see the girls. The prisoner answered yes, he had girls. The prisoner answered yes, he had girls. The prisoner answered yes, he had been around.

Lula V. Woodward was sworn. She was told to look at the prisoner and said she had seen him before. She first knew him by the name of Merton. That was in 1882. She did not remember who introduced him to her. She first found out that that was not his name while out riding within and another course recontenues with that was not his name while out riding withhim, sind another couple, a gentleman calling him by his right name. She had known the prisoner a very short time. She has not seen him since 1882. He was then a college boy.

At the conclusion of the evidence of this witness, Mr. Meredith, of the prosecution, said that this was the lest witness they had to put on the stand at present, and that they probably would not have any more, and sug-ested that after recess the defense begin the introduction of its witnesses.

Judge Crump, of the defense, opposed forcing their side to such action. They desired some hours, at least, to prepare their line of defense, and hoped the court would not indorse the proposition in making them begin their

Judge Atkins said he would wait until after ecess to decide. At the afternoon session, Mr. Meredith made a motion that John Joel, who had previously testified regarding the watch key, be allowed to take the key apart and give such testimony as he might, either for the benefit of one side The defense opposed this, as they thought there might be a time during their testimony that they might desire to save.

Judge Atkins expressed a desire to have Mr.

Dodson and Hunter Hunt, colored, of the American hotel, testify further in relation to the torn note. Hunt was first put on the stand, and the judge asked him as to the identity of the pieces of the note to the one given him by the lady at the hotel. Hunt said they were the same pieces that were gathered from the scrap basket, and that the envelope was the same kind as that given him by the lady. It same kind as that given bim by the lady. It was sealed when he gave it to the messenger. He said Mr. Dodson read the name of T. J. Cluverius on the note when the pieces were put together.

Joseph Dodson was recalled. He said the note was handed to him by the colored messenger boy when he brought it back to the hotel. He saw it when the office boy gave it to the messenger. It remained in the office desk until Saturday evening, when he opened it, read it, and then tore it up and threw it in the waste basket, not knowing what to do with it. put together.

The judge then stated that the only thingthat caused him to rule against admitting the note was the question of identity; that now he was satisfied that it had been sufficiently identified, and that he would therefore admit it as evidence.

The note was then read, as follows:

"I will be there as soon as possible. So do wait for me." It was not signed, but the envelope was addressed to "T. J. Cluverius."

Counsel for the defense took exception to the ruling, both as to the envelope and the note in it.

The prosecution next introduced a letter received by Mrs. Fannie. Walker, grandmother of the deceased, from Lillian, dated March 14, in which she informed her that owing to bad weather in the mountains she had closed her school, and was going to Old Point Comfort with a lady friend to remain some time, and that all her expenses would be paid. mailing of the above letters. He said it had been dropped in the street letter box. He knew it by the stamp on the envelope. It must have been dropped in the box the night or evening before the morning of the lath, as it was brought in that morning by the collector.

The prosecution here rested their case, and the court asked if the defense would be ready to go on in the morning.

Judge Crump replied that they thought so.
The court then adjourned until 10 c'elock a.m. PROMINENT CITIZENS INDICTED.

MIDDLETON'S TERMS TO POUND

The Indians of the Northwest Thoroughly Scared-Foundmaker's Pies for Terms and the Response-Dument Still Holds Out-Other News of the Day.

PRINCE ALBERT, N. W. T., May 25 .- Saturday afternoon two men arrived here in a buggy, carrying a white flag. They turned out to be Dirty Horn, nephew of Poundmaker, and Robert Jefferson, Indian instructor of that chief's reserve. Jefferson has been held by the Indians as a prisoner since the commencement of the trouble. He produced a letter from Poundmaker to the general, containing treaty overfures, and the two men with a couple of scouts, were sent with it to overtake the steamer carrying the general to Battleford. The two men said while here that Poundmaker is at Eagle Hills, forty or fifty miles distant, with 300 Indians, with whom he was on his way to Batouche when the car-rier strived with the information of Riel's

THE OLD CHIEF MAD. Poundmaker was much incensed at Riel, whom he accused of misleading him. During Saturday the scouts who had gone with the two messengers returned, having overtaken the steamer thirty miles up the river. They said the general told Poundmaker's emissaries that Poundmaker and his counsellors must meet him in Battleford Tuesday, with their arms, and make an unconditional surrender. Unless these terms were accepted the troops will be sent to drive them from their reserves and punish them. Gabriel Dumont is still in the Birch hills with a few followers, and is defiant. He paid a visit to Batouche Saturday, when the priest offered him a letter from Middleton, telling him to surrender and promising him a fair trial. Being told who the letter was from he refused to take it, and said the general could go to the devil if he choose. Very few weapons of any value have been surrendered so far.

Pleading With Middleton.

Bantleford, May 25.—The steamer Northwest, with General Middleton, came in last night. Four hundred volunteers were with him. Rev. Father Cochin is just in with a communication from Poundmaker, saying that he will surrender unconditionally. The Indians are now coming in to talk with Middleton. They are thoroughly scared. There are about 40 half breeds with them, and the Indians proper number nearly 2,000 souls. When the proper number nearly 2,000 souls. When the priest gave Poundmaker Colonel Otter's letter, they all laid down their arms. This was Thursday last, and they have already commenced moving in to surrender. The priest says the enemy were two days engaged in burying their dead at Cut-knife hill. There were sixty bodies at least. The rebellion is practically over. READY FOR RIEL.

The trip was a very rapid one, but was made without incident. The escort consisted of nine men of the Nineteenth battalion and seven of the Midland regiment. The original destination was Winnipeg, but orders by telegraph met Captain Young at Moose Jaw to hand his prisoner over to the police authorities at Regime and await orders. Siel was tities at Regins and await orders. Riel was consequently placed in the barracks here. He is well, but showed some nervousness at be a handed over to the police, and does not tak much. The other prisoners will likel be brought here to be tried, as this is the capital of the territory. of the territory.

TRYING TO SAVE HIM. MONTREAL, May 25.—The French press is doing all in its power to save Riel. It is now alleged that he only surrendered to General Middleton on condition that his life would be spared, and, even if he were guilty, any number of medical men in this province are willing to swear that he is insane. L'Etandard, the organ of the Roman Catholic bishop of Montreal, says that the fanaticism which causes the English people to call for the hanging of Riel was in itself the very cause of the rebellion. Le Retis comes out with a series of inflammatory articles. It says that if the half breeds were Protestants and had to deal with the government of Quahec. God halv. deal with the government of Quebec, God help the volunteers who would pass through Onta-rio to put them down. It is quite evident the French press is trying to make this a religious question instead of a national one, so as to en-tist the sympathies of the Irish Catholics who comprise about one-quarter of the popu-lation of this province. A gentleman who has just returned from Sorel says that at a public just returned from Sorel says that at a public dinner given there, at which the mayor of Montreal and a number of leading French and Irish citizens were present, the toast of "Rell, the patriot," was drunk with honors. The tosst of "the Queen" was omitted, that of "the American and French republics" being substituted. OTTAWA, Ont., May 25.—It is more than likely that Riel will be tried under an act of Edward III, entitled, "An act defining which offenses shall be adjudged treason." If Riel were an American born citizen he could be tried under the provisions of chapter 14 of the dominion acts, 1867-1868, but the old maxim which declares "Once a British subject always a British subject," may still have sufficient force to operate as a bar to conviction in the case of a trial under its authority. There can be no such danger in a trial under the statute of Edward III, coupled with the express declarations of chapter 69, acts of 1868. THE TRIAL OF RIEL.

THE INDIAN OUTBREAK. Orders From Washington for the Suppre

ion of the Hostiles, WASHINGTON, May 25.—Telegraphic information received at the war department from General Crook indicates that the hostile Apaches, under Geronimo, will remain in the control of the contro mountains of western Mexico, and raid the settlements. Three troops of the Sixth cavalry are on the upper Gila and San Francisco, and one about Hillsboro, moving north. Two troops from Fort Wingate, N. M., have gone to San Marcial, by rail, to co-operate with them. A telegram in regard to the recent Indian outbreak, of which the following is a copy, was to day sent to the commanding generals of the divisions of the Pacific and of the Missouri:

Use every exertion possible, and call for all the assistance of federal troops you may require, to suppress the Indian outbreaks in Arizons and New Mexico. These outrages must be stopped in the shortest time possible, and every precaution taken to prevent their occurrence in the future. By order of secretary of war.

VICTOR HUGO'S BURIAL. The Police Expecting a Biotons Demonstra-

the Police Expecting a Riotons Demonstration From the Reds.

Paris, May 25.—The police expect and are prepared for the renewal of the communistriotat Pere La Chaise cemetery to-day or tomorrow. The communist papers ery for vengeance upon the police and troops for attacking and bayoneting the people who attempted yesterday to make the demonstration at the graves of the communists in the cemetery. These journals in order to incite the mob falsely assert that the soldiers during yesterday's riet shot four communists dead. Threats are made to attack the authorities with arms and dynamite. Extraordinary military precautions are being taken to prevent the mob from even starting a riot.

Victor Mugo's funeral will take place next sunday. The poet's body will lie in state under the Arc de Triomphe until Saturday. The communists of Paris have resolved to attend the funeral, and to march with red flags in the procession. If they do, it is believed there will be a riot.

To-day's demonstration of the communists, which is a continuation of yesterday's anniversary celebration of the fall of the communer, has, up to this hour, been orderly. The government withdrew the troops and allowed the processionists to march into Pere is Chaise cemetery with red flags. the processionists to march into Pere la Chaise cemetery with red flags. The communists not being opposed, vented their enthusiasm and alleged blood-thirstiness in harmless sheuts. They claim, however, to have overswed the authorities and boast of their victory.

In the riot yesterday thirty persons were wounded, but no one was killed.

The following is another account of the demonstration of the communists to-day: "There was another serious fight to-day between the police and the anarchists. A large party of the latter went to Pere la Chaise cemetery, to inter the remains of a revolutionist named Courinet. They entered the cemetery quietly, but became excited by violent orations delivered over the grave by Rochefort and others. They sallied out from the cemetery with a red flag flying, and the police made a rush to capture the flag. A desperate fight ensued, in which knives were freely used. Several were wounded on both sides and many arrests were made."

A catefalque, twenty feet high will be erected under the Arc de Triomphe, which will be inclosed with drapery on all sides except that facing the Champ Elysses. Four oriflammes with silver mountings will surmount the enclosures. A huge belt of crape covers the left side of the arc. On the front masts will be reared bearing oriflammes and escutcheons inscribed with the titles of Hugo's works. Thirty-two candelabra, fifof Hugo's works. The cortege will wend its way through the champs Elysees and the boule-vards, halting on the Place de LeRepublique where the choruses of the opera comique and the conservatory will sing a funeral chant. F Grave outbreaks by the communists and anarchists are feared to-morrow, and until after the tuneral of Victor Hugo. The revolutionists have been worked up to a high state of excitement. It is reported that they intend to erect barricades in the streets.

VALIDITY OF CATHOLIC BAPTISM. The Result of the Argument in the Pres-

Dr. E. H. Nevin followed at some length, showing in what the corruptions of the Roman Catholic church consisted.

Dr. Schaff offered a substitute for the resolution, to the effect that the Roman Catholic church, though corrupt and teaching many unscriptural errors, yet retaining the holy scriptures and the ancient creeds with all the fundamental truths of Christianity, is still a branch of the visible church of Christ, still a branch of the visible church of Christ, and, therefore, the sacrament of baptism administered by that church, with the right to baptize, is true and valid Christian baptism, which cannot and ought not to be repeated.

Dr. Schaff spoke in favor of the substitute by showing from history of the church that baptism administered in the name of the trinity with the proper intention, regardless of the character of the one administering, had always been considered walld. Further had always been considered valid. Further debate was postponed until to-morrow after-

When he returned to Toledo he prepared an article which appeared in last week's Democrat, in which he charged several young married men with ruining a young married lady, a former resident of Cleveland, and of being the means of breaking up the happy home of this young married couple. He mentioned the names of the young men and the lady as well. This morning Hathaway appeared at the St. Charles notel, and three or more of the young men abused took him to the rear of the hotel, stripped him of his clothing and gave him a costume of tar and feathers.

The Burial of Lehman, the Suicide-A Queer Rape s in Gwinnett-The Presidency of the En-erprise Factory-The Dedication of the New Church in Sandersville.

JESUP, GA., May 25 .- [Special.]-A negro lunatic created a genuine sensation in Jesuo this morning about 3 o'clock. It happened this way: Train No. 22 composed of 33 freight cars, of the East Tennessee railroad, was all made up and left iding on the Y, preparatory to going out at 4.15 a.m. At 2.50 this negro lunatic, named Jos Merritt, mounted the engineer's box, opened the throttle valve, and pulled off toward Macon. He went about three miles, when, in attempting to mount a steep grade, the steam gave out and his mount a steep grace, the steam gave out and his train stopped. He immediately began blowing signals, which aroused the train men in Jesup, and, they missing their train, procured an engine, and started in pursuit of it. When they reached it, Merritt remarked to them was a shame to give him such a heavy train to pull and not allow him a fireman. He was secured with some difficulty and brought back to Jesup and lodged in jail. But for Providential interference serious results would have followed the escapade of this wild man. Passenger train No. 13 was due in Jesup at 3:30 a. m., and this negro was running forty minutes in the time. She was on time too, near Jesup, when fortunately a bolt in the engine broke and threw her considerably off time.

HELD FOR BAPE,

An Old Maid's Charge Against an Eighteen Year Old Boy.

Lawrenceville, May 25.—[Special.]—To-day at 10 o'clock before the magistrates of this district the case of the state vs. Lyle Williams, charged with rape, will be sounded. The warrant was sworn out by Thomas Allen, the father of the aleged victim. His daughter is about thirty years fage and the defendant is only eighteen and is quite a youth in size and appearance. The defendant is a son of Mr. D. P. Williams, son inlaw of G. W. F. Craig, deceased, and therefore is very prominently connected. The most ting feature of the affair is the attempt on the part of the said Thomas and four of his boys, and the unfortunate daughter and her mother, as is reliably reported, to compel the de endant to agree to marry Miss Mary, the defend ant's victim. As Messrs. Herrin, Smith and Rob ertson were on their way fishing, pass-ing near Allen's house, the former heard his name called, and in response thereto went to Allen's house, and there he found the Allen family around Lyle entreating him by all orts of means-first peaceable and then forcible o agree to marry the daughter in question. He nad gone down to the house to give them orde where to work and what do that day, as they were enants of his grandfather, for whom he was trans acting business, and no sooner than there he was greeted with an invitation to m said Mary, which Lyle refused do, and told the family he would see himself cut into a hundred slices before he would do such a thing. However, they got out a saddle and horse, a dollar and fifty cents and a courier, and were about to send for the license, when the above party appeared upon the scene. Lyle says they kept him there for about two hours, and doubts what would have been the result had it not been for th timely appearance of the above gentlemen, who themselves experienced some difficulty in getting the family to let the boy leave. Being thwarted family came to town and swore out the warran as above stated. The trial promises to be inter esting and amusing.

bner C. Walters Arrested Under Two Se rious Charges. HARTWELL, Ga., May 25 .- [Special.]-Abner Walters, aged about seventy-five years, was to-day arrested under two warrants, one to keep the eace and the other charging him with an attempt to burn C. L. Scott's buildings just out o town, last night. Scott thinks he will be fully able to establish proof sufficient to convict, having seen him in the chimney corner outside the use, and run him out of the yard, threw hammer at him which was resented with a large stick in the hands of Walters till Scott reached an ax. Then Walters retreated, Scott following him ten feet behind, and calling for his son Jerry. When Jerry reached his father he was chasing Walters two hundren yards from the house. Walters up to this time had never said a word. Young So ran up and took hold of Walters. Then the old man backed down, and said he was not able to go urther. He was helped upon his horse, brought to his home in town and turned over to his family scott returned home and discovered in the chim ney corner pine knots, matches and a bundle o aindling splinters, all tied up nicely with a twine string. He also discovered that an effort had been made to start the fire. When Scott discov ered that an attempt had been made to burn his nouse, he returned to town and had Walters guarded till morning. To day he waived prelimi ary trial, but has not been able to complete his bond. No man in town felt disposed to run the risk. Scott is a highly respected citizen. Walters was fined three hundred dollars last March court, for indecency, in which he thought Scott had fig ured prominently in the prosecution.

His wife expected him back in twenty minutes, but as he did notcome back by dinner time, nor at nightfall, she became plarmed and spent a very restless, uneasy night. Next morning there were still no tidings of the missing man, and the neighborhood was acoused and a search began which lasted several days without result. The woods, swamps, byways and highways were searched and no trace of the missing man could be found. In less than a half of a mile from the house his tracks were lost and could never be found again. Two weeks have now elapsed and still, at last accounts, nothing has been heard or seen of him. The Alapaha river is near by and it is the theory of some that he commuted suicide by drowning himself, but there had been nothing in his recent conduct to suspect that he contemplated such a rash act. He was a poor man, with wife and four little children, and it is thought he could hardly have run away with the intention of deserting them, as he left every cent he had in cash at the house when he went off. Savannah News: Master Theo. McFarland, a son of Dr. J. T. McFarland, was the recipient a few days ago of a pair of rather curious pets. They are said to be Arabian sheep, and are quite unlike our domestic sheep. They were sent to Master McFarland by Mr. Harry McGowan, proprietor of the Point Breeze hote!, Baltimore. They are five months old. Each one has a black head and neck and a white body. The deece is thick and soft. The animals are unusually doclle, and made themselves at home in the stable and yard. The most striking peculiarities about them are a large pouch under the throat and lumps of fat on the rump on either side of the tail. The pouch under the neck serves as a receptacle for food, which they masticate twice, as our domestic cattle do. It may also serve as a receptacle for water, which in some parts of its native arid country is searce. Mr. McGowan has a our domestic cattle do. It may also serve as a receptacle for water, which in some parts of its native arid country is scarce. Mr. McGowah has a number of the sheep as curtosities. He recently presented Captain J. B. West, of this city, with a pair. How they compare in fleece and flesh with our domestic sheep is not known. They are doubtless Persian sheep, which are closely allied to the Fezzan breed, of Africa. The Persian sheep are marked with black head and neck and the rest of the body white. They are several breeds on scrumped sheep in South Africa, extending over that continent and also to Asia. The Hottentot broad-tailed sheep has short, soft fleece and two large lumps of fat on either side of the lower part of the tail, which are so esteemed as a delicacy that various coutrivances are used to prevent them from dragging on the ground. The fat rumped sheep of Tartary and temperate Asia has a similar growth of fat on the croup, and long, pendulous ears. The reason of this accumulation of fat, sometimes 70 to 80 pounds, has not been satisfactorily determined.

Rome Bulletin: A young doctor named Teague, from Esom Hill, has been on a spree in Rome the past week. When he first arrived he had $155, and he has spent it liberally, and he says that on Thursday night he was robbed of the balance of his cash, about $79, and had Perry Smith. a well known Central porter, arrested. Justice Watters, siter hearing a mass of circumstantial evidence, bound Perry over in $100 bond to appear before superior court. Rome is at work upon a projected fourth o July celebration.

A reward of $50 is offered by the ordinary of Bulloch county for the arrest of a negro named Alexander Mincey, who murdered his wife near Excelsior last September.

Boliver Cowart, of Tatnall, killed, recently, one of the finest deers he ever saw, the weight of which was about 120 pounds. It was killed on Sand Boone, the man who was arrested and tried on day last week before Justices Surrency and Dubberly, in Tatuall, for the murder of Mr. White-man, has been acquitted, as sufficient evidence could not be produced to bind him over to the superior court.

Brunswick Herald: On the 13th of September, 1864, the 26th Massachusetts were whipped badly by the 26th Georgia near Winchester, Va. The former have invited the latter to hold a re-union at Winchester next September. The Brunswisk killemen are the only known company of the regiment, and the invitation is held over for acceptance.

Americus Recorder: Lewis Alexander was plowing a mule in a field belonging to Mr. E. C. Wobb, of Smithville, a few days ago, when there came up a rainstorm secompanied by thunder and lightning. Suddenly a more vivid fiash than usual blinded persons who were at the house, and they saw with horror that a stump had been torn up within fifteen paces of the plowman, and that he and the mule were both down. Mr Webb rushed out to assist them, but the mule recovered before he reached it. The negro remained unconscious until he was raised up by Mr. Webb, when he, too began to revive. Negro and mule are both enjoying their usual hearth, none the worse for their rude knocking out.

A Satisfactory Assurance. From the Acworth, Ga., News.
We have no Mermons in this neighborhood.

"The leprous distillment, whose effect, Holds such an emmity with blood of man, I hat, swift as quicksilver it courses through The natural gates and alleys of the body," and causes the skin to become "barked about most lazar-like, with vile and loathsome crust." Such are the effects of diseased and morbid bile, the only anticket for which is to cleanes and regulate the liver—an office admirably performed by Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery."

DISTINGUISHED CITIZENS DEAD. Some of Their Characteristics and Personal Peculiarities.

From the Milledgeville, Ga. Union.

The time in which they lived is sufficiently distant for us to judge of its actors and events with a good degree of impartiality, and yet near enough to engage cur sympathies, and to exercise the influence of present and living interests. Many of our young men and women who have grown up to manhood and womanhood, never saw, perhaps never heard of DR. TOMLINSON FORT.

When the writer came to Milledgeville, in 1837, Dr. Fort was at the head of his profession, and with Dr. Benjamin A. White, constituted the nestors of medicine and surgery. In those days each physician had his own drug shop, compounded his own prescriptions, and carried with him a case or saddle-bags in which they and his surgical instruments were deposited. Dr. Fort was a man of many fine qualities thoug rough in the exterior. He was over six feet high, and possessed an iron constitution. He was, though seemingly inattentive to dress and personal appearance stamped, throughout with the fervent characteristics of a great mind and nature. Dr. Fort's integrity was of that firm texture that never stretched. It was as solid as the rock Gibraltar. He was fond of the grant of chees, and he and his con It was as solid as the rock Gibraltar. fond of the game of chess, and he and his con-temporary, Dr. White, had many a hard tus-sle over that fascinating and scientific game. He was a forcible writer, as his popular book on "Practice" abundantly attests. In his practice he invariably rode horseback, night practice he invariably rode horseback, high and day, and never carried an umbrelle, summer or winter. He always were boots, and he told the writer that he wore one pair a year without half-soling. This was fowing to the peculiar manner in which he put his foot to the ground, walking without twisting or scraping his soles. The doctor loved politics, and edited the Federal Union several years, when edited the Federal Union several years, when the paper was owned by Park and Rodgers. He served a term in congress and was for some time president of the Central Bank of Georgia. He loved fruit and flowers and was devoted to bis family.

DR. BENJAMIN A. WHITE.

Perhaps no two men were more different in emperament and physical spirits than these There was also a very marked difference in their physical conformation. Dr. Fort was tall, and what may be called "raw-bone," while Dr. White was short and stout. We have seen Dr. White lay down on the floor and laugh immoderately at some ludicrous scene or funny object. Superior to the pedantry or ombast which disdains common sources o instruction and amusement, he was the most indefatigable sight-seer in Milledgeville. An anecdote of the doctor's will be in place. There was a Methodist minister here by the name of Mosely, who had, it was said, a greater fondness for dress than for expounding the Serinture. There came along a nomadic Scriptures. There came along a nomadic phrenologist, who gave an exhibition in the Methodist church that night. After examin-ing many heads, Dr. White arose and proposed that he examine the head of his friend (and we believe relative) preacher Mosely. Mr Mosely stepped to the front and took the chair After a brief examination and answers to the several interrogatories propounded, Dr. White stepped to the front and asked the phrenologist what sort of a preacher he would make?—
"anything else would suit him better," was the reply. Dr. White fell down on the floor, the reply. Dr. White fell down on the floor, rolled about as though he would split his sides. He had many peculiarities. He could walk as fast as the average horse could trot. He found time outside of the duties of his profession to attend to those of his plantation and merchant's mill 11 miles distant in Jones county. He very rarely eat dinner at the time the family dined, preferring to eat the main meal of the day just as he was going to bed. He was a very exact man in his business affairs. His will was a singular one, yet n perfect keeping with his character as a man. it exacted that as little expense as possible be accurred in his burial; and ordered that his coffin should be a plain square box, and that when deposited in the grave it should be covred with dirt. This was neither singularity or parsimony. He wanted the money that might be so spent, given to the noble purpose of educating the orphans of confederate soliciers. He attended, usually, the Presbyterian church, but would never join in the doxology;

the was a Unitarian in religious belief.

His remarkable fortitude and self possession were illustrated on his death bed. He was His remarkable fortitude and self possession were illustrated on his death bed. He was aware that the end was near. His son, Dr. Samuel G. White, then distinguished in his profession, was lying on the bed near his father, with his hand on his wrist. "Samuel," said the old man, "I want you to give me a sign the moment of dissolution." We were present. One could not but follow with earnest interest the progress of such a mind towards the farthest margin of life, in order, it possible, to mark what be its feelings in the immediate before its departure, any glimpses would even vet be afforded it, of the truth and grandeur o that revelation which professes darkly to adumbrate some of its broken outlines and erts. When the pulse was flickering and bout to cease forever, Dr. Samuel White said, about to cease forever, Dr. Samuel White said, "Father, the end is here." But the eyes of the old man were closed, and his lips sealed by the impress of death. He made no answer. Dr. White was a highly educated man, having had the advantages of the finest institutions north and south. He was a close reader and heat abrest of all the scientific improvements. and kept abreast of all the scientific improve ments in his profession. Take him all in all, his like we shall rarely look upon again.

Voudoolem in Sumter,

From the Americus, Ga., Recorder.

There has fallen under our observation a queer case of superstition and voudooism. A negro woman in the city has been suffering for ometime with mental aberration, and a few days since she became so violent that the au orities were obliged to arrest and impri claim to have found ample proof that she was "tricked." In the mattress of was "tricked." In the mattress of her bed were found various "conjure balls," made of different mixtures, a lock of hair and some insect generally forming the nucleus. In her pillow was a ball containing a lock of wool from her head, and several lizzards when the investigation took place. It is real queer how these people hug such delusions but among the more ignorant the "conjurer" is more dreaded than old Nick humself.

From the Americus, Ga. Recorder.

About a mile above Magnolia Dell, in Muck. alee swamp, a colony of beavers have settled. The site of their fortress is well chosen. It is at a sharp bend in the creek, a long open reach extending southward and in the same menner westward. On the land side it is protected by a boggy morass which, intersecting above and below with the creek, makes an island. On this island they have built their mud fortress, and a queer looking structure it is, made of saplings, pieces of bark and branches skilfully interwoven. he trees in the vicinity exhibit marks of the sharp teeth of the busy little animals, and a fish trap near by has been utterly demolished. An experienced trapper might have some rare sport there.

A Schoolhouse Baising.

From the Ellijay, Ga., Courier.

We had the pleasure last Thursday of attending a schoolhouse raising. Everything went on as usual at such occasions until nearly 12 o'clock, when suddenly a wagon, accompanied by a number of ladies, appeared on the grounds. The crowd of hands seemed to understand the situation in an instant, and soon a table was prepared and heavily Isden oon a table was prepared and heavily lader with good things, to which we all turned and did ample justice, to the edibles at least. We left the place that evening, thinking how utterly worthless a country would be without women. May the building of schoolhouses and the eating of good dinners continue in the land.

Mince Pie.

Somebody in writing of this pie has called it "the devil's compound." The effects of long indulgence in it are such as sometimes warrant this title. The too hearty consumer of mince pie and similar luxuries is sure, sooner or later, to be afflicted with dyspepsia. But dyspepsia will yield to Brown's Iron Bitters, the great iron tenic. Mr. and Mrs. Paddock, of East Delevan, Wis., both testify that this medicine cured them, not only of dyspepsia, but also of kidney disease.

THE TRACKS OF CRIME.

Original Ideas Among Oriminals-Or averages Up Like the Wheat Crop.

"The study of crime brings forth some rious factts," observed an old detective, other day. "While you may know just ! s certain shot in billiards ought to be me it may not be possible to make it successfu So with our business. We may be abl pick up all the clues in a murder case, the next thing is to catch the murderer." "What are your curious facta?"

"One of them is that all criminals comporine after certain rules. It is rarely, indee that you find a crook working on an origin idea. The burglar works after the style 100 years ago. The thief has no new idea All our murders are committed after what might be called the old fashioned way, sometimes with some offender would development of the called the something. For instance I can point you to a case where as many thirteen attempts have been made to enter certain residence within the last two year and each attempt at the same window with the same tools. Isn't that monotonous?

"Another of the curious facts is that crim averages up with as much certainty as the weather or the crops. If it gains one mont it will lose the next. If it fails off in one see son it will pick up at another, so that you "One of them is that all criminals come it will lose the next. If it falls off in one set son it will pick up at another, so that you figures for one year will not vary greatly froi another, except there are special reasons fo it. We send about so many criminals to prison each year; about so many give us the slip about so many commit their fürst offense have a close shave from state prison and ar frightened into leading honest lives.

"A third curious fact is the shortsightedness of criminals, even when crime is deliberately

"A third curious fact is the shortsightedness of criminals, even when crime is deliberately planned. In a murder case in the interior of the tatte last year you remember the murdere claimed that some one reached into the bed room window and hit his wife with a club, the blow causing her death. In his confession made after four of five days, he acknowledged that he had been planning the crime for weeks. Now see how blind he was. The window-sash was nailed down a each corner. He broke off one nail and left the other! He was made to see that no man, no-matter what his height could have reached into the window is enough to strike anyone on the bed, even with enough to strike anyone on the bed, even wit a hee handle. In planning his perfect safe he committed half a dozen of the stupide blunders one ever read of.

"Take the case of the average burglar. It comes to be known around his usual haunts that he is broke for cash. Indeed, he volunteers the information himself, makes a hau and returns to give himself dead away by his reckless extravagance.

"It is the same with a common thief. he would steal and hide his plunder for awhile he would give us more hard work, but the idea with him seems to be that if he is not nabbed in the very act he has nothing to fear. He can't wait to dispose of his plunder, and his manner of offering it for sale is a give-away in itself. The old thief learns caution, of course, but the oldest of them drop footprints here and there.

"See how easy it is to draw a war map of crime! The board robber a second relation."

"See how easy it is to draw a war map of crime! The bond robber v... sooner or later seek to negotiate with bankers or brokers. The store robber will work his silks and velvets off at auction. He may not personally, but his 'fence' will. The clerk or cashier, who is embezzling from $1,000 to $5,000 par year, will spend it in wine, cards, horses and with a vil company. When he makes a grab of $10,000 you can depend upon his going to Canada or Mexico. The thief who steals a harness, silver pitcher, garden hose or other article wants the cash for it right away, and you may figure on turning him up at some second-hand store or the pawnbroker's.

"The ruts of crime are as plain as the iron

'The ruts of crime are as plain as the iron tracks of a railroad. You can figure to a moral certainty what a criminal should do and will do, but that isn't catching him. and will do, but that isn't catching him.
There hasn't been a murder committed in Michigan for twenty years without my feeling morally certain as to the murderer, but what I feel and proofs to convict are two fferent matters.

"And one of the curious facts is that so meny criminals give themselves away. Not one man in thirty can commit murder with-cut eventually sharing his secret with some one. The burden of guilt seems too great for one pair of shoulders.

one pair of shoulders.

"Phipps, who was hung at Sandwich, Echemed every way to break jail, and risked his life to get out of Canada, but he hadn't had his liberty twenty-four hours before he wanted to give himself up. He headed for the far west, but stopped at Pullman in disgust, and actually took pains to let three or four individuals know who he was. Some criminals will overdo the thing, and by the vehemence of their protestations expite suspicion Others. of their protestations excite suspicion. Others show guilty by timidity, and yet others by their show of indifference or cheek. I have picked show of indifference or cheek. I have piezed up an offender on the street with no other clue than his manner of glancing at his fellow pedetrians. I have arrested others who looked everybody in the face as frankly as if they falt it a crime to steal a strawberry. They felt it a crime to steal a strawberry. They were overdoing the thing by too much frank. ness. "Tell me to day the name of a man in any certain business whom you have reason to be-lieve is hard up and cannot pull through his financial straits, and I can tell you pretty closely as to what will result. If he belongs closely as to what will result. If he belongs to a certain class there will be an honest assignment. If to another certain class there will be a bogus chattel mortgage, or some of the stock will be amuggled away. If to a third, there will be an incendiary fire to secure the insurance. You can count on these ruts in crime as certainly as upon the seasons, but the criminal who follows them very often gets to the end of the furrow and takes a new departure before he can be overtaken."

Latest Triumph of Modern Science

Most of the distilled productions in medicinal or social use are undoubtedly open to the serious objection of harboring sufficient percentages of deadly poisons to influence the blood, unduly excite or completely paralyze the nerves, and injure the delicate coatings of the internal organs, so that injurious reactions, nanatural cravings and habital deversities. unnatural crayings and habitual demoralization sometimes result. Denials are both fool-ish and untruthful. These objections are now all happily overcome in Duffy's Pure Malt. Whisky, which is made from the finest barley by the latest triumph of modern science, so absolutely free from everything deleterious that the strictest moralists and most careful and the strictest moralists and most careful consumers are alike enthusiastic in its praise, while nursing mothers, growing children, and weakly persons of all conditions, are resping untold benefits from its use without the slight-est fear of harm. The thief has no new ideas. All our murders are committed after what might be called the old fashioned way. I gometimes wish some offender would develop something new in law breaking. For instance, I can point you to a case where as many as I can point you to a case where as many as thirteen attempts have been made to enter a certain residence within the last two years, and each attempt at the same window with the same tools. Isn't that monotonous?

"Another of the curious facts is that crime averages up with as much certainty as the weather or the crops. If it gains one month it will lose the next. If it falls off in one seait will lose the next. If it falls off in one season it will pick up at another, so that your figures for one year will not vary greatly from another, except there are special reasons for
it. We send about so many criminals to prison each year; about so many give us the slip;
about so many commit their first offense, have a close shave from state prison and are frightened into leading honest lives.

"A third curious fact is the shortsightedness of criminals, even when crime is deliberately of criminals, even when crime is deliberately planned. In a murder case in the interior of the tate last year you remember the murderer claimed that some one reached into the bedom window and hit his wife with a crue, on window and hit his wife with a crue, low causing her death. In his confession, ande after four or five days, he acknowledged planning the crime for room window and hit his wife with a club, the that he had been planning the crime for weeks. Now see how blind he was. The low-eash was nailed down at corner. He broke off one nail left the other! He was made to see window-eash and left the other! He was made to see that no man, no-matter what his height, have reached into the window far enough to strike anyone on the bed, even with a hee handle. In planning his perfect safety he committed half a dozen of the stupidest he committee that a dozen of the stupless blunders one ever read of.

"Take the case of the average burglar. It comes to be known around his usual haunts that he is broke for eash. Indeed, he volunteers the information himself, makes a haul and returns to give himself dead away by his weekless extravagence.

"It is the same with a common thief. If "It is the same with a common thief. If he would steal and hide his plunder for awhile he would give us more hard work, but the idea with him seems to be that if he is not nabbed in the very act he has nothing to fear. He can't wait to dispose of his plunder, and his manner of offering it for sale is a give-away in itself. The old thief learns caution, of course, but the oldest of them drop footprints here and there.

"See how easy it is to draw a war map of crime! The bond robber value sooner or laterest to negotiate with bankers or brokers. The store robber will work his silks and velvets off at auction. He may not personally, yets off a nuction. He may not personally, but his 'fence' will. The clerk or cashier, who is embezzling from $1,000 to $5,000 per year, will spend it in wine, cards, horses and with evil company. When he makes a grab of $10,000 you can depend upon his going to Canada or Mexico. The thief who steals a harness, silver pitcher, carden hose or other articles. or Mexico. The thief who steals a harness, silver pitcher, garden hose or other article wants the cash for it right away, and you may figure on turning him up at some second-hand store or the pawnbroker's.

"The ruts of crime are as plain as the iron tracks of a railroad. You can figure to a moral certainty what a criminal should do and will do, but that isn't catching him. There hasn't been a murder committed in Michigan for twenty years without my feeling morally certain as to the murderer, but what I feel and proofs to convict are two different matters.

"And one of the curious facts is that so many criminals give themselves away. Not one man in thirty can commit murder without eventually sharing his secret with some one. The burden of guilt seems too great for one pair of shoulders.

"I'hipps, who was hung at Sandwich, schemed every way to break jail, and risked his lite to get out of Canada, but he hadn't had his liberty twenty-four hours before the wanted to give himself.

he wanted to give himself up. He headed for the far west, but stopped at Pullman in disgust, and actually took pains to let three or four individuals know who he was. Some criminals will overdo the thing, and by the vehemence of their protestations excite suspicion. Others show guilty by timidity, and yet others by their show of indifference or cheek. I have picked up an offender on the street with no other clue than his manner of glancing at his fellow pe-destrians. I have arrested others who looked everybody in the face as frankly as if they felt it a crime to steal a strawberry. They were overdoing the thing by too much frank "Tell me to day the name of a man in any certain business whom you have reason to be-lieve is hard up and cannot pull through his financial straits, and I can tell you pretty closely as to what will result. If he belongs to a certain class there will be an honest assignment. If to another certain class there will be a bogus chattel mortgage, or some of the stock will be smuggled away. If to a third, there will be an incendiary fire to secure the insurance. You can count on these ruts in crime as certainly as upon the seasons, but the criminal who follows them very often gets to the end of the furrow and takes a new departure before he can be overtaken.'

HOW THEY STRUCK IT.

Mr. John W. Haywood, residing at No. 38 Chariton street, was met by a News reporter last night and asked whether he had ever heard from the $15,000 which was reported that he had drawn on one fifth of ticket No. 59,075 which drew the first capital prize of $75,000 in the drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, on the 14th of April. "Have I heard from it? Is that all you want to know?" was the reply. "Well, the money is here in Savannah. It was collected through the Savannah Bank and Trust Company at a cost the Savannah Bank and Trust Company at a cost of $52.95, and was counted out to Mr. L. M. Verdery and myself, who were partners in the proceeds of the fortunate ticket, last week, Friday, Let me tell you about it. I had no regular employment for some time, but happening to get an odd job, I took $2 of the wages and incosed it to M. A. Dauphin, asking him to send me two one fifth tickets of different numbers. Mr. Verdery gave me $1 to pay for one of the tickets, the understanding being that, if either or both tickets drew anything we would be partners, sharing alike. The Friday night after the drawing I was sitting at home feeling decidedly down in the mouth and trying to amuse myself by playing solitaire. I was a few hundred dollars in debt and my house rent was due. In fact, I expected a notice to vacate The door bell rang and Verdery came in asked if I had read the paper. I said, 'Yes, I've read all the papers.' Didn't you see that one-fifth of the capital prize in the Louisiana State Lottery had been drawn in Savennah,' be asked.

"'Well, what of it?"
"Get out those tickets and look,' said Verdery, "I had quite forgotten about the tickets, but went and got them out. One was $9,075 We compared it with the number reported in the newspaper, the latter calling for $5.055. I said to Verdery, 'Don't you see, twenty points out of the way? However, newspapers sometimes make one figure show in place of another. We'll go down town and look at the official list of numbers. We didn't take the tickets with us. We called in at Fernandez and looked at the list, when Verdery in an undertone remarked to me: 'That is the number-69,075.

"The next morning we went to the Savannah Bank and Trust Company and got a receipt for of $52.95, and was counted out to Mr. L. M. Ver-

The "Science of Life" directly accomplishes both. It contains secret truths that every young man should know. Don't fail to send for it next

John W. Haygood and L. M. Verlery, who-have secured for fifty cents each the hand-some sum of $7,500. AT HOWELL. THESE ARE ABSOLUTELY THE MOST DESIR-

THESE ARE ABSOLUTELY THE MOST DESIRable vacant lots ever offered to the public possessing so many railroad facilities. Here you have the Belt road leading East, with the W. & A. and E. T. & V. West, and the Georgia Pacific Southwest. For every imaginable manufacturing pur pose, this property is superior to any around Atlants. This is ultimately destined to be occupied for Coal Yards, locomotive, wood and iron shops. 'Tis the most eligible and desirable point for receiving coal or crude material from the west, and has every convenience for shipping from Atlants. While it receives all these benefits, it is too remote to be city taxed for the next fifty years. This property offers such an extensive railroad front it cannot fall to attract capital—not alone in our city, but throughout the country at large.

From this location you hear the buz of thousands of spindles in the Exposition cotton mills, which lie adjacent.

Upon this body of land are some elegant residence sites, high and commanding, with as purwell water as can be found in the earth. Such places are exceedingly valuable, being so very convenient to business. The surrounding property well water as can be found in the earth. Such places are exceedingly valuable, being so very convenient to business. The surrounding property cannot be bought at any price at present, and is owned by the most farseeing geutlemen in this country, which proves that it is the most suitable place for a permanent investment. No man who has purchased in this direction has failed to realize a profit or appreciation in value. Yet the demand has just now began to grow. A few years ago this was the most quiet part of Atlanta. To-day you are impressed with the hum of machinery and whirl of wheels in this section.

Here is your lot for your factory, with home adjoining, and no extra charge for transferring cars. Every train that passes the Belt road is bound to call a halt, thus enabling you to use them as readily as horse cars. This land belongs to a non-resident, and will be sold on its merit. The subdivision has been made, after an accurate survey, and every lot properly pegged. A careful review proves that the greatest possible advantage to each lot has been kept in mind.

We regard this as the most favorable opportunity for a first class investment that has been offered at public outery for years. The lots not only front the railroad, but have bold fronts on Oglethorpe street, Euclid avenue, Howell's Mill road and other streets, one of which is macadamized all the way to the city.

Oglethorpe street, Euclid avenue, Howell's Millroad and other streets, one of which is macadamized all the way to the city.

The increasing population that will settle on this and adjacent property will necessitate the crection of storehouses for the business that is bound to follow. Then, 'tis wisdom to secure your business lots at this sale when you can buy comparatively cheap. The steam cars will leave un paratively cheap. The steam cars will leave union depot at precisely at 2 o'clock p. m., halt at Simpson street for passengers, and in about 4 minutes arrive at the premises.

We invite every body to go out to the sale at our expense. The train returns immediately after the sale. Terms, one third cash, balance in six and twelve mouth 8 per cent. RIGE & WILSON, Real Estate Agents, No. 7 N. Broad street.

INFORMATION WANTED

The New York Evening Post, commenting on the fact that the recent convention of commercial men, held in Atlanta, voted in favor of suspending the coinage of silver, has Nothing can arrest this swelling tide of souther sentiment in favor of sound business policies, and since this decisive vote of the Atlanta convention. there is an excellent prospect that congress will pass an act suspending silver coinage early in the

Our esteemed contemporary will not, we trust, take it amiss if, in relation to this important matter, we approach it gently in search of information. If we are not mistaken, the desire of those who oppose the suspension of silver coinage is to prevent the accumulation of a depreciated circulating medium, which sooner or later, if matters go on as they are now going, will supplant and drive out gold and thus bring about a panic, or some such financial crisis. They hold that the silver dollar, as compared with the gold dollar, is not a genuine dollar, but, is worth only so much as it will fetch if sold as bul-

If we mistake not, those who hold such opinions have been for several years past engaged in an effort to induce the people to believe that the silver dollar is worth no more than its bullion value, which is about 83 cents, as compared with gold. This effort to depreciate silver and to create distrust in the popular mind has, we are bound to say, met with measurable success. This success has been greatly aided by the attitude of the banks of the country, which, while they are hoarding gold, are taking advantage of every opportunity to refuse silver. At this moment, while the people are doing business on the basis of silver, the banks are doing business as nearly as possible on an exclusively gold basis. In this, it seems, they are aided by the secretary of the treasury; so that it is not going too far to say that the banks, having the active co-operation of the government under whose auspices silver is coined, will finally have their way so far as the suspension of silver coinage and the actual degradation of the silver dollar are concerned. It is on these points that we desire to go to the esteemed Evening Post for information. Admitting (so as to leave no difficulty in the way) the truth of everything that has been urged against the continued coinage of silver, we desire to ask the Evening Post if it is not true that the suspension of silver coinage will still further depreciate the price of silver bullion? In other words, as there will be no further demand on the part of the government for silver bullion, will it not inevitably follow that the price of that commodity will be still further reduced? Our own opinion is that this question answers itself. The ex-governor of the bank of England, in a recently published letter, gives it as his opinion that the suspension of silver nage in the United States will depreciate the price of silver in every market in the world. The bullion value of the silver dollar is now eighty-three cents, and this, ecsion of coinage, is the real value of the dollar. If the suspension of coinage still fur-ther reduces the bullion value of silver, say to seventy-five cents, then seventy-five cents will be the value of the silver dollar.

What, then, is to be the outcome of this whole business? What is to become of the silver dollars that are already coined? Will the banks of the country open their doors to them after coinage is suspended and the bullion value of the silver still further depreciated? Will Mr. Manning carry out the law and redeem the legal tenders in silver after the opponents of silver have had their way? Or will there be an extraordinary contraction of currency following the refusal of the banks and the ultimate refusal of the people to receive these silver dollars? Answers to these questions on the part of the Post we shall regard in the nature of informationinformation that is very desirable just at this

A GLUT OF MONEY.

The banks of New York city hold over and shove the legal reserve fund nearly sixty million dollars. One year ago they held only three millions over the reserve required to be kept available by the national banking law. The banks of Boston, Philadelphia and other money centers are in a similar gorged condition. Deposits are increasing faster than acceptable leans can be placed, and the bankers themselves are beginning to seek a remedy. Why should capital be idle? How long will men continue to place their money in banks that pay no interest when in some sections of the country it could be loaned at Idle capital succeeds a general want of confidence just as surely as the latter follows in the trail of a panic. As a rule a great accumulation of idle capital marks an advanced stage of a period of depression, and is usually followed by a revival of confidence and activity. In 1878-79 there was an abundance of idle money, and in the next year there was an expansion of credit and speculative prices such as the country has rarely known. If the story of 1879-80 is to be repeated, we are on the verge of a period of remarkable activity; for money is more than plenty, and prices are very low. The depreciation in stocks is almost beyond precedent, and stocks and bonds are the chief purchases of those who are holding idle to-day vast amounts of money in our great money centers.

There is little or no distrust to-day in business circles, and business paper is readily discounted by the banks at low rates; but othe panic of last May has destroyed confidence in railroad investments, and almost put an end to all speculative enterprises. Railroad construction is at a standstill, and all over the land there are idle mills and factories. When economy was forced upon the people by circumstances beyond their control, over production quickly followed; and the railroads had less to carry, and today the factories and railroads are in one grand slump, and it is difficult to say which is in the worst condition. But it is plain that when confidence is restored among the capitalists, more railroads will be built because the country needs them, and the factories will be reopened because the people need goods that they have done without in the recent hard years; and when the people begin to buy freely again we may know the hard times are ended. The country is growing, and the effects of over production will necessarily soon disappear, and when they pass away capital will grow bolder, and activity will be ushered in again. In this case activity must begin at the top. The masses of the people cannot begin to buy goods until employment is furnished them by the capitalists. The capitalists must first begin to help railroad builders and factory managers, thereby giving the people employment; and so the whole question of a return of business activity resolves itself into this: when will the capitalists regain the confidence and courage they displayed in the days of 1879-80? It is a difficult question, and the answer, it must be presumed, will be hastened in actual fact by the money lost through the accumulation of idle capital, The foliy of letting sixty million dollars accumulate in one city will readily appear when its owners quit quaking long enough to see there are thousands of investments that offer good returns with no drawback of probable loss. The capitalists cannot long hold out against tempting offers. Selfishness, if not patriotism, will restore sense and confidence to their timid hearts and befogged

brains. "HUCKLEBERRY FINN" AND HIS CRIT

A very deplorable fact is that the great body of literary criticism is mainly perfunctory. This is not due to a lack of ability or to a lack of knowledge. It is due to the fact that most of it is from the pens of newspaper writers who have no time to elaborate their ideas. They are in a hurry, and what they write is hurried. Under these circumstances it is not unnatural that they should take their cues from inadequate sources and give to the public opinions that are either conventional or that have no reasonable basis. All this is the outcome of the conditions and circumstances of American life. There is no demand for sound criticism any more than there is a demand for great poetry. We have a leisure class, but its tastes run towards horses, yachting and athletic sports, in imitation of the English young men who occasionally honor these shores with their presence. The imitation, after all, is a limping one. The young Englishman of leisure is not only fond of outdoor sports, but of books. He has culture and taste, and patronizes literature with as much enthusiasm as he does physical amusements. If our leisure class is to imitate the English, it would be better if the imitation extended somewhat in the di-

The American leisure class—the class that might be expected to patronize good literature and to create a demand for sound, conservative criticism—is not only fond of horses, but is decidedly horsey. It is coarse and uncultivated. It has no taste in either literature or art. It reads few books and buys its pictures in Europe by the yard. We are led to these remarks by the wholly inadequte verdict that has recently been given in some of the most prominent newspapers as to the merits of Mark Twain's new book "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." The critics seem to have gotten their one in this ins ance from the action of the Concord library, the directors of which refused the book a place on their shelves. This action, as was afterwards explained, was based on the fact that the book was a work of fiction, and and others who are in favor of the suspen- I not because of the humorous character that are popularly supposed to attach to the writings of Mr. Clemens. But the critics had got their cue before the explanation was made, and they straightway proceeded to inform the reading public that the book was gratuitonsly coarse, its humor unneccessarily road, and its purpose crude and inartistic.

Now, nothing could be more misleading than such a criticism as this. It is difficult to believe that the critics who have condemned the book as coarse, vulgar and inartistic can have read it. Taken in connection with "The Prince and the Pauper," it marks a clear and distinct advance in Mr. Clemens's literary methods. It presents an almost artistically perfect picture of life and character in the southwest, and it will be equally valuable to the historian and to the student of sociology. Its humor, which is genuine and never-failing, is relieved by little pathetic touches here and there that youch for its literary value.

It is the story of a half illiterate, highspirited boy whose adventures are related by nimself. The art with which this concep tion is dealt with is perfect in all its details. The boy's point of view is never for a moment lost sight of, and the moral of the whole is that this half illiterate boy can be made to present, with perfect consistency, not only the characters of the people whom he meets, but an accurate picture of their socia life. From the artistic point of view, there is not a coarse nor vulgar suggestion from the beginning to the end of the book. What ever is coarse and crude is in the life that is pictured, and the picture is perfect. It may he said that the humor is sometimes expessive but it is genuine humor-and the moral of the book, though it is not scrawled across every page, teaches the necessity of manliness and self-sacrifice.

RESPECTABILITY AND RHYME.

A New England critic makes a savage on slaught upon Mr. James Russell Lowell for expressing regret in his address on Coleridge that the poet-philosopher was without the correct business habits which would have made him a respectable man.

Our eastern critic thinks that "the pos who has led a regular life will write regular poetry, tinctured with that low mechanic vein of thought akin to worldly respectabil ity and prudence; but the poet whose want of correct business habits has enabled him to taste the vicissitudes of human life feels how much inspiration is indebted to experience.' Possibly this balderdash may impress young people with the idea that a genuine poet must be reckless, improvident or dissipated, like Alfieri, Byron and Poe. There is nothing more absurd. Poets are no longer wandering troubadours. They wear their hair cut close, and follow the fashion in other things. They are as "strictly business" as any class in the community. There is no incompatibility between respectability and rhyme. Even in Byron's day, when society was not very particular, Samuel Rogers showed that it was possible to be a pattern of prorpriety, a successful banker, and yet turn pretty good poetry. The of to.day are all respectable in the sense indicated by Mr. Lowell. Leaving out Tennyson, who is obliged to be respectable because he is rather shaky, and a peer and a poet-laureate, and all that sort of thing we have only to reflect a moment to become convinced that stanzas and shekels may go ogether just as well as not. Victor Hugo for instance, died the other day, leaving $8, 000.000. Such a bank account would be voucher for respectability anywhere. William Cullen Bryant was one of our first poets. but he also knew how to run a great daily newspaper, and hold his own in matters of business. Mr. E. C. Stedman has written good poetry, but he has never lost sight of his main business, speculating in Wall street.

But why spin out a list of names? The readers of these poets do not complain of "a low mechanic vein of thought." Even our New England critic will find it difficult to point it out. Still, we must say that, even though the facts pointed the other way, we should prefer respectability and correct business habits, without poetry, to poetry without respectability and correct business habits. But the New England critic is free to make

THE visiting military at Mobile during drill veek were highly pleased with the decorations and mottoes displayed along the public streets, but they turned pale when they read over an undertaker's shop the words, "Welcome! Welcome to our guests."

THERE has been considerable talk converning the anti-public school views of Mr. Zack Montgomery, of California, who has been selected as assistant attorney general for the department of ed, and does not hesitate to make a full and frank statement of his position. He opposes our public school system because he believes it is wrong, and is making a large class of criminals and law breakers. The system takes the child out of the control of the parents and places him in the control of persons who have no personal interest in his welfare. Under the guidance of the teacher the child loses much of his respect for his parents. He accepts the views and authority of the teacher as above those of his parents. According to th census of 1860, in five New England states, with public schools, there was one native white criminal to every 1,000 persons, while in five southern states, without public schools, there was only ne native white criminal to every 6,500 persons. Mr. Montgomery did not examine the census of 1870 because that was taken shortly after the war, before things had resumed their normal condition, The census of 1880 he had examined and found to sustain his views. After studying the question from every standpoint, he has come to the conclusion that parents are bound to feed. clothe and educate their children, and should be compelled to do sc. Children whose parents are poor should be fed, clothed and educated at public expense. No citizen should be taxed to feed clothe or educate the children whose parents are able to take care of then No public school should force upon a child a teacher, book or system to which the parent objects. The whole business of education should be open to private enterprise and free com petition. The state should step in only where private enterprise fails. These are the main points embodied in Mr. Montgomery's education al platform.

Abated-Personal and General.

MACON, Ga., May 25 .- [special.]-An outrage decidedly unusual, occurred in this city this morn-

While walking on New street, Miss Mittle Lamar, who resides with her mother, Mrs. Phil. Lamar, in Vineville, was knocked down and robbed by a negro man. The negro appeared to be about twenty years old. He met Miss Mittle just as she was mounting the brick steps on the sidewalk in front of Mrs. Barden's boarding house, and snatched at a satchel in the young lady's hand. in jerking the satchel away from her, he threw Miss Mittie down. He tried to pull her into a alley near by, hoping, probably, to escape the attention of persons passing by. Failing in this effort, he took from Miss Mittie's hand a handsome diamond ring, and then attempted to pull her earrings from her ears. The pain caused by the wretch's attempt to get the earrings, made the young lady scream. The negro became alarmed and ran off, carrying with him the satchel and the ring. The satchel is said to have contained about fifty dollars.

The matter was reported to the police barracks at eleven o'clock, just after its occurrence, and the police at once instituted search for the thief. As Miss Mittle did not know him, and nobody else seems to have seen the assault and robbery, there was no clue to the negro, except the stolen articles. It is probable that these will lead to his arrest, but as yet nothing had been seen or heard

T. J. Carling's Narrow Escape.

TWO NEGROES ATTEMPT TO MURDER HIM AT THE STREET CAR STABLES. F Macon, May 25.—[Special.]—Yesterday afternoon T. J. Carling, president of the Macon street railroad company, had a narrow escape from death at the hands of two negroes, at the company's stables, on Elm street. For several days past Mr. Carling has missed various pieces of lumber from the stables, and yesterday was on the lookout for the thiexes. He noticed a negro named Alex Brown about the stables and ordered him to leave. Brown defiantly refused to move, and picked up a pice of scantling with which he threatened Mr.

Carling. The latter seized a small piece of lum-ber with which to defend himself. This angered Brown's brother, Moses, who was present, and he caught up a piece of scantling and started towards Mr. Carling, intending to kill him. Being alone and unable to cope with the two burly negroes, Mr. Carling called for help. Officer D. Thomas heard the call, and came up and arrested the two At the recorder's court, this morning, nagroes. MACON, Ga., May 25.—[Special.]—Tate Sullivan, the park seper reported in Sunday's Constitution as shooting at a bootblack at the park Saturday morning, was fined five dollars by Recorder Pat terson this morning. The Ladies Work.

TWO ENTHUSIASTIC MERTINGS HELD YESTERDAY TO AID IN RAISING THE Y. M. C. A. FUND. The women of Atlanta are enthusiastic in their determination to aid in raising the fund for the Young Men's Christian association building. Yesterday they held two meetings, both with the same object in view, and both in perfect sympathy with each other. As the result of these meetings there will be commenced at once an organized, earnest woman's work for the grand object which has so stirred Atlanta.

Pursuant to a call in THE CONSTITUTION yesterday, an enthusiastic meeting of ladies was held in the Y. M. C. A. room at 3 o'clock yesterday after-noon. Mrs. Dr. William King, president of the Ladies' Austria hoon. Mrs. Dr. William King, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary society, presided.

Mr. Cree, one of the international secretaries of the Young Men's Christian association, made a statement as to what had already been accomplished toward raising a fund for the building, and asked for suggestions as to how the united co-operation of the ladies of the city could be secured. In response to a request from Mr. Grady the subscriptions of those present was taken and about $1,000 was pledged.

Committees of ladies to receive subscriptions were appointed from the various churches. The ladies appointed are requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, to perfect their organization. Ladies who cannot attend are requested to solicit in their preper meetings on Wednesday evening. It is desirable to have this organization most thorough and complete.

The ladies desire that the fund raised by these ladies' subscription should as far as prac-ticable go to furnishing the building. The ladies subscription will be acknowledged in the CONSTITUTION MOTHERS' FUND, and will be paid over from time to time to the treasurer. Ladies can make payments as will best suit their convenience dividing it up so as to enable them to meet their subscription out of their own funds.

It is thought that the subscription by the mothers, wives and sisters of Atlanta will reach the magnificent sum of $10,000. THE KIMBALL HOUSE MEETING.

At the Kimball house the ladies' parlor at 4 o'clock was filled with ladies, gathered to consider how the ladies could help in the good work. Mr. Kimball took charge of the meeting. Subscriptions were taken from the ladies present, and quite a large sum was subscribed. It was proposed to co-operate with the committees in the churches, and thus make an organized effort. At the same time each lady was to act as a committee of one to solicit from all whom she could. Never before has the ladies of the city been so aroused, and when they take hold of any movement it means that it must go. The ladies of Atlanta are foremost in this as in every good journed to meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, by which time it is hoped 500 subscriptions will have been received. Every good woman's name and help is wanted.

ABOUT HIS WIFE.

A Bootblack, Who is a Lieutenant, Tackles a Dray Driver. W. B. Patterson, coal black, is a bootblack at Bob Steel's barber shop and a lieutenant in Bentley's military company. Richard Nesbitt is a copper colored dray driver, and had Patterson's aim been good, Nesbitt's dray would not have been on the streets vesterdey. Patterson is a married man. He lives on Ellis treet near Calhoun and although he spreads blacking and uses the shoe brush for a hving he has a home comfortably furnished. Saturday night when Patterson finished his work he wen straight home. He had done a hard day's work and was tired, but immediately after he reached and was tired, but immediately after he reached home he forgot that fact. As he stepped up on his front porch he heard Nesbitt inside talking to his wife. This aroused Patterson's anger, and throwing open the front door he walked in. His appearance was a surprise to Nesbitt, who started to leave. Patterson, however, was not ready for Nesbitt to go, and stepping between him and the door ordered him, in military style, to halt. Nesbitt had no idea of being catechised, and struck at Patterson with a stick. Instantly Patterson drew his pistol and began firing at Nesbett. Nesbett could not stand the fire, and sprang through a window, carrying sash, glass and all with him. Both Patterson-and Nesbett stand well socially among the colored people, and after blood had cooled down, they began scheming to hide' the sifair. They succeeded until yesterday morning, when Captain moon accidentally heard of it. The captain investigated the matter, and last night booked Patterson for disorderly conduct and discharging firearms, while he set Nesbitt down for disorderly conduct and quarrelling. The cases will be tried in police court this morning.

Director General Burke Writes a Card of

Denial, BATON ROUGE, La,, May 25.—The governor has issued a proclamation concerning the designation of Friday, May 29, as Mexican day, by the world's exposition, in which he says:

of Friday, May 29, as Mexican day, by the world's exposition, in which he says:

This special dedication of a separate day in honor of the Mexican republic, its president, congress, army and people is a due and litting tribute which Geserves to be seconded by the citizens of Louisiana and all Americans who may be in Louisiana on that day, so that they may manifest their intelligent and grateful appreciation of the generous and magnanimous share which Mexico has taken in this unparalleled enterprise.

Referring to the report in general circulation that Director-general Burke had become responsible for the obligations of the world's exposition to the amount of $150,000, and was thereby financially involved. Major Burke states to day that the report is incorrect. The total indebtedness to Louisiana creditors, unpaid on the 20th instant, was $105,000, half of which has been paid, and it is believed that the balance will be paid in full. The debts due to persons and firms outside of Louisiana, together with the amounts due to states and territories, with premiums, will consume the entire amount of the recent government appropriations othat the decision of Attorney-General Garland will not, after all, affect the exposition adversely. Major Burke declares that he has not been called upon to surrender property to meet exposition liabilities, as has been widely published, and that his tamily can pay three dollars for every one they owe; that he is grateful for the sympathy expressed by his journalistic friends for his supposed financial mislortune, but is happy to say that such sympathy has been mislaed, and furthermore that he is in the eujoyment of excellent health and will get down to work on the Times-Democrat in a few days.

TWO LEAGUE GAMES

-Amsteur Games Throughout the State
-Games Elsewhere-Other Sport.

The rain in Nashville disappointed about as many people in Atlanta as Nashville. Hundreds were congregated at the bulletin boards to watch the score of the Atlanta-Nashville game. This failing, interest then turned to the Colum bus-Augusta game, which ran for ten innings. The Chattanooga-Memphis game followed suit, keeping the crowd entertained by two of the closest games of the season. Nashville and Atlanta will play to day. The new umpires were assigned to duty for the first time. Mr. Benjamin F. Young was sent to Columbus, where Augusta played, Mr. Jennings to Nashville, where Atlanta was to have played, Mr. McCue to Memphis, where Chattanooga played, and Mr. Cartwright to Birmingham, where Macon was to have played. MEETING OF THE LEAGUE DIRECTORS.

A meeting of the directors of the Southern league has been ordered for Thursday next, 12 o'clock, in Atlanta. This meeting is one of the most important ever held, and the directors have been carnestly requested to come in person, and not to send proxies. The business can be tran sacted in one afternoon. The president earnestly hopes the directors will all be present. The Game in Columbus:

COLUMBUS, Ga., May 25.—|Special.]—The game between Augusta and Columbus this afternoon was one of the finest ever played at Star park. It took ten innings to decide it, and the last was the most exciting of the game. Landis and Kappel were the battery for Columbus and Kilroy and Donohue for Augusta. Columbus played without an error, and but for this fact she would in all probability have lost the game. In the tenth inning the tie was broken by Benner's crossing the home plate for Columbus. Augusta got two men on bases, but by the splendid field work of the home team neither of them were allowed to score. Young umpired the game, and there was no kicking. Landis will pitch again to-morrow, with Whiting to catch him. Hofford and Sexsmith will be the battery for Augusta. The following is the SAVANNAH, Ga., May 25 .- [Special]-The unust imposition upon the people by the fee companies of increasing the price on ice one hundred per cent over what Charleston and neighboring cities has, had its legitimate effect to-night. A large and enthusiastic meeting of subscribers to the Mutual Protective ice company was held, when measures were taken to effect an organization to procure a charter and start a company to supply the citizens of Savannah with fee at half a cent per pound. The committee in charge are D.C. Bacon, J. K. Clarke, S. Guckenheimer, B. A. Denmark, John Lyons, John C. DeSeltz, J. R. Harnlet. The Bankers and Merchants Telegraph Co. ALBANY, N. Y., May 25 .- The proceedings by the attorney-general in the matter of the Bankers and Merchants Telegraph company are instituted for the purpose of stopping the continued loss to the bondholders by the issue of receiver's certificates, there being a continued deficiency in carrying on the business. From September 23, 1884, to April 30, 1885, the earnings were 8422,876, and the expenses 8600,264, showing a loss for seven months and eight dayse of $177,387, or a deficiency nearly equal to $1,000 per day. The proceedings in reality, it is said, is to sell the property and stop the drain, so that the bondholders proceed against the proceeds of the property rather than against the property itself.

An Ice War in Savannah

THE CHICAGO MARKET, Pentures of the Speculative Movemend in Grain and Produce.

By telegraph to The Constitution.

OHICAGO, May 25-Speculation in wheat to-day was very limited, and trade on the regular board dragged rather heavily. This was accounted for in part by the absence of any foreign news, the in part by the absence of any foreign news, the British exchanges being closed. There was nothing in the home situation essentially different from what has been known to traders for a week past. Receipts here were somewhat larger, and this, in addition to fine weather for the growing crops, caused a somewhat weaker tone until the afternoon, when the feeling was somewhat stronger, and the market closed a shade higher than Sat-

There was a good speculative business in corn, and the feeling developed was unsettled and weak, and the fact of a good many stop orders being on the market helped the decline. Fine weather for the growing crops, together with an anticipated liberal increase in receipts to morrow, brought out free offerings. The shipping demand was limited, though sales of cash corn to go in store were large though sales of cash corn to go in store were large.
The market closed about ½c under Saturday.
Oats were active but unsettled and lower. The market opened ¾c lower, rallied a trifle, fell back and closed 1/26% under Saturday. There were free offerings of pork, and the market fell off 10@121/2c.

Laid declined 5@10c and closed steady. PROVISIONS, GRAIN, ETC.

Mr. S. H. Several days ago, when the East Tennessee cut from Augusta Colonel E. R. Dorsey, of the Georgia road, announced that he would not receive or recognize any ticket received by the East Tennessee. That road then sent Mr. Hardwick to Augusta to open an independent

In investigating the matter the city council of Augusta found that rone of the roads centering there had secured license and the probability is they will be asked to plank down to the tune of about $350. Mr. Hardwick goes to Columbus to-day to establish an independent ticket office there having left Mr. J. P. Moffett, the Knoxvi le ticket agent, in charge in Augusta. Mr. Hardwick says he was cordially welcomed in Augusta, and well treated.

The East Tennessee cuts rates by paying the full local fare on the Georgia and Central wherever it has to use those roads, and putting its own fare at a nominal figure. Its rate from Augusta to Chattaneoga is $3.10, while the Georgia road's rate from Augusta to Atlanta is $5.15. The war is liable to last for some Upper Peachtree Street.

The people who live on Peachtree street beyond Pine street do not understand why the section inside of Pine street is nicely cleaned up daily, while the street beyond Pine has not been visited by the dirt cart and the men of shovel and hoe this year. The dirt in some places is six inches deep, the gutters are filled, and that section of the street is in a deplorable condition. The people of upper Peachtree were heavily taxed for street improvements—and they are pretty good taxpeyers anyway—and they seem to have a right to grumble some over the neglect that has become their portion.

THE PASSENGER RATE WAR.

The East Tennessee and Its Trouble in Establishing an Augusta Office.

tablishing an Augusta Office.

Mr. S. H. Hardwick, of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad, was in the city yesterday on his return from Augusta, where he went several days ago to establish an independent railroad ticket office. Several days ago, when the East Tennessee cut the passenger rate from Augusta Colonel E. R. Dorsey, of the Georgia road, announced that he would not receive or recognize any ticket received by the East Tennessee. That road then sent Mr. Hardwick to Augusta to open an independent ficket office.

On arriving in Augusta, Colonel Dorsey threatened, in case Mr. Hardwick opened an office, to have him arrested and fined a hundred dollars for doing rested and fined a hundred dollars for doing business without license. Mr. Hardwick applied for license and the mayor and council granted it for a year. In investigating the matter the city council of Augusta found that none of the roads centering there had secured license and the probability is they will be asked to plank down to the tune of about $350. Mr. Hardwick goes to Columbus to day to establish an independent ticket office there having left Mr. J. P. Moffett, the Knoxvi le ticket agent, in charge in Augusta. Mr. Hardwick says he was cordially welcomed in Augusta, and well treated.

The East Tennessee cuts rates by paying the full local fare on the Georgia and Central wherever it has to use those roads, and putting its own fare at a nominal figure. Its rate from Augusta to Chattaneoga is $5.10, while the Georgia road's rate from Augusta to Atlanta is $5.15. The war is liable to last for some time.

SAVED BY BLOOD.

DR. MUNHALL'S BIBLE READINGS AT TRINITY CHURCH.

The Theme of Last Night's Discoun

The second week of the special services at Trinity church has begun with every indicacation that the interest in them, though great from the first, is rather on the increase than on the decline. Dr. Munhall has consented to remain in Atlanta another week, and will conduct double daily services every day at Trinity. There will be a Bible reading at three o'clock in the afternoon, and at 7:45 every evening. Both services yesterday were largely attended. At night, though the clouds threatened rain, all the seats were filled and some persons sat in chairs in the aisles. The services were begun by singing, "I am washed in the blood of the Lamb."

Dr. Munhall leads the singing with as much spirit as he preaches. He tries to get everybody in the congregation to sing, and he succeeds in warming his hearers up before he begins his directive. gins his discourse. As the last verse of the bymn mentioned was sung last night, he said: "I want all who feel that they have been washed in the blood of the Lamb to hold up their hands as we sing this last chorus." When the chorus was reached there was a louder burst of the grand melody, and all over the church hands were thrown up into the air and kept there until the last ore sung.
Dr. Munhall's theme was

THE BLCOD OF CHRIST. and he took as his text the 24th verse of the 12th chapter of Hebrews: "The blood of sprinkling that speaketh better things than the blood of Aaron."

It has been remarked, he said, that the blood of Anron cried for vengeance, and the blood of Christ cried for mercy. The blood of Aaron here spoken of, however, does not refer to the blood spilled by the fratricidal hand of the first murderer. Reference is had to the blood of Aaron's sacrifice which foretokened the sacrifice of Christ for man. Aaron's sacrifice was accepted because it had blood. Here the idea of atonement by blood is first suggested, and it afterwards found its divine completion on the exercise. by blood is first suggested, and it afterwards found its divine completion on the cross of Calvary. Mr. Beecher is reported to have said recently, and he probably is reported correctly, for we are prepared to expect Mr. Beecher to say anything, that he is sick and tired of these Moody and Sankey songs. There is blood, blood, blood all through them. He says we are not saved by blood, but by love. Now if my little ten year old girl did not understand the scriptures better than that I would be ashamed of her, and yet it is mervellous how ignorent are some marvellous how ignorant are some people who ought to be enlightened on these great truths. Especially is this the case with people who are fed with the silver spoon of such orators as Mr. Beecher. We are saved by blood, by the death of Christ. His shedding His blood for us is an expression of His love, it is true, but it is the act of His dying that saves us, and not any abstract idea of His love. Suppose it were whispered through the land ss it was in Egypt one fearful night, that the angel of death would pass over and would slay the first born of every household, save where he found blood of a lamb on the lintels of the door posts. Do you think a father thus warned would procure a lamb and simply tie him to the post? Do, you suppose that his first born would rest in peace, satisfied that all that was needed was a more figurative sprinkling of the blood and not the actual sacrifice? The blood of Christ, we are promised, will do much for us, and I have promised, will do much for us, and I have written down some of the things it does for us. In the first place we are REDEEMED BY BLOOD, not with corruptible things as silver and gold, but with the blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. His blood will do you no good unless you take advantage of it in glad self surrender to Him. Then we are justified by blood. The most wonderful thing in this universe is that we are all justified through Christ. We are all lost on our own merits, and we are saved only through the atonement of the blood shed only through the atonement of the blood shed only through the atonement of the blood shed for us. It removes our sins from us as far as the east is from the west.

And then we have peace through blood. We some times speak as if God were angry with us. God has already been propitiated by the shed blood of Christ. It is the sinner who keeps up the enmity, and is still in rebellion against God. Oh! have done with your rebellion. Lay down your arms in this unequal warfare and surrender. You will find God ready to receive you just as quick as you do that.

The blood of Christ cleanses from all sin. Many of you are moral and upright, and you think that will suffice unto your salvation, but you are not morally clean unless you think that will sumee unto your salvation, but you are not morally clean unless you have been washed in this blood. It makes no difference how corrupt you may have been, you will be made white as snow with this cleansing. Even a poor magdalen can be made clean by it. My heart goes out to

for in nothing is woman's uncharity shown so plainly as to a sinning sister. It touches my heart when I hear an erring woman tell, as one told me in this church the other night in confidence, of her desolation and misery. Woman never forgives such a sin, but God's mercy is greater than that of woman. This poor girl asked me what she could do to earn a living here and to regain the opinions and the love she had lost. I did not know what to tell her, though my heart could do to earn a living here and to regain the opinions and the love she had lost. I did not know what to tell her, though my heart went out to her. I thought there might be some kind Christian women in this city who would help her and forgive her in the spirit of Christ, but I advised her to go as far from Atlanta as she could get and to ask the help of God to give her a new heart and keep her in the pure life to which she was resching. There is one to whom even a poor, weak, fallen woman can look for comfort and strength. When I look at these feet of mine and think 'how many paths of sin they have trod, I see other feet which were nailed to the cross and I see the blood upon them. When I look on these hands and think of all the wicked deeds they have done I see other hands which are stained with the priceless blood that flowed for me. When I think how my thoughts have gone satray I see a lovely face, fairer than the sons of men, the fairest among ten thousand and altogether lovely and a brow on which the crown of thorns was set, and there is the blood that was shed for me. When I think of my poor wicked heart I think also of another kingly throbbing heart whose blood was spilled by the Roman spear and whose flood has washed away the sins of the world.

Dr. Munhall concluded with a powerful appeal for all who had not known the cleansing power of this blood. Many of those present manifested a deep interest in the subject presented and asked prayer for their conversion to a better life.

Dr. Munhall always holds his congregations well, and in his earnest, eloquent talks there is much that goes to the heart with sugges-

A BRAZILIAN OUTRAGE.

The department of state received to-day a report from Mr. Osborn, minister to Brazil, in regard to the arrest and imprisonment of Beckford Mackey, United States consul at Rio Grande. Consul Mackey has also written to his relatives here, giving an account of the difficulty. It appears that Mackey had for many weeks been violently assailed for no ascertained cause, in the columns of the newspaper at Rio Grande, Do Sul. The editor, one Amorim, sent Mackey a note by a messenger on April 13th, proposing that if he subscribed for the paper it would cease to attack him. He declined the offer and kicked the messenger out of his office. On the next day the editor made a scurillous attack on Mackey, and assailed his mother, an excellent lady distinguished for her piety. On the same evening, as Consul Mackey entered the theater, he was confrented by Amorim with an uplifted stick. Mackey at once struck him a heavy blow in the face with his welking cane. His assailant drew his pistol, but before he could fire, the consul shot him twice, and he fell to the floor. Mackey, accompanied by the consul of the German empire, repaired to the poice magistrate and surrendered himselt. Amorim, whose wounds proved not to be severe, then arrived at the head of an armed body of ruffians, and demanded that Mackey should be surrendered to him. The police officers were overawed and fled, but Mackey drew his pistol and kept the mob off a tew minutes. He is held prisoner, as the offense is not bailable. overawed and fled, but Mackey drew his pistol and kept the mob off a few minutes. He is held prisoner, as the offense is not bailable. All the foreign consuls have visited him in a body, and signed a statement justifying his action, while hundreds of leading citizens have tendered him their aid, and the leading lawyer of that province has volunteered for his defense. His trial will take place next week. Mackey is a young man, in his twenty-third year. He graduated with the highest honors at Pio Nono college, Macon, Ga., and later at the law school of Georgetown, when he was appointed consul. He is a son of Judge T. J. Mackey, of South Carolina.

ST. JOHN GETS MAD.

He I ands the Democrats and Denounces the Republicans,

the Republicans.

Springfield, Ill., May 26.—Ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, addressed a small audience at the court house here last night. He severely castigated the republicans of the house of representatives for refusing him the ute of the hall for a lecture. He said he understood it was done principally by the republicans, and that the democrats were willing he should use the hall. He charged that the related use the hall. He charged that the related here was the outgrowth of spite; berated the blican party generally, and lauded the sound, claiming that in all the qualities of morality and good government, this section was in advance of the north. This was especially the case in regard to temperance, since there was a larger area of territory where absolute prohibition prevailed by the operation of local option.
